What does it mean to be an inclusive ally to our students? Five myths about VCU students with Gypsy Denzine: In this session, we will discuss five commonly held beliefs about college student motivation. We will consider whether the following are considered fact or myth? Belief #1- some students are simply unmotivated Belief #2- all learning should be fun Belief #3- students benefit from knowing how well they are doing compared to their peers in the class Belief #4 - students' performance goals get in the way of their learning goals Belief #5- students need a sufficient amount of positive self-esteem in order to achieve academically Teaching with Technology with Caitlin Bergendahl: Teaching with technology can deeply engage students, but how do we ensure that it's effective for meeting our learning objectives? This roundtable discussion will provide you with resources, tools, and ideas for teaching with technology at VCU. We'll explore VCU-supported tools and how to creatively use them to meet learning outcomes, plus we'll brainstorm new ideas together. Tips for Speed & Sanity: Using Google Apps for Good with Tom Woodward: Too much to do / the digital distracts / email overwhelms. Fight back. Make sure you're using these tool tips to preserve life and sanity. 	ALC 4100 ALC 4102 Lobby ALC Cafe ALC 4110
